THE MISSISSIPPIAN. Barbecue at Cooper's Well, on Friday September 30th, 1859.

A Barbecue will be given at Cooper's Well, Hinds County is invited to be present. The Candidates for the Legislature will address their fellow-citizens on the occasion. Come one, come all-Ladies especially.

From the Carrolton Democrat Speech of Hon. Wm. Barksdale

guished and talented gentleman addressed his fellow citizens of Carroll, on last Friday. Though there was a large audience assembler to hear him that distened with profound at tion and respect to the words of truth and rea-son that fell from the lips of our able Repreevery citizen in the county had heard the speech. So clear, so forcible and so reasonable were his arguments and positions that it seems an enigma that any Southern patriot should many of the best Democrats of the nation the Democratic Administration was in power.

On the subject of specific duty, and a Pacific Railroad, the speaker occupied the true Democratic grounds: holding that specific uty was unjust, oppressive to portions of the com-munity; and advocating the present system of advalorem taxation. The building of a Rail-road to the Pacific, he held to be unconstitu-On the acquisition of Cuba Mr. Barksdale occupied the position of the Democratic party Again, while we receive a few millions of dollars of imports from the island, we pay the extravagant duty of 6,500,000 dollars, on the articles of sugar and molasses alone; their laws requiring both import and export duties.

By flavor and by the first of the first the articles of sugar and molasses alone, then laws requiring both import and export duties. By figures such as these, and by arguments plain and pointed, he showed the necessity of possessing the Island, as a rightful heritage to possessing the Island, as a rightful heritage to blood which has flown from the reins of mur-dered Americans, and to require the release of our citizens incanserated in her dungeons.— Let us calmly and dispassionately demand a scrupulous settlement of this account. Let us require every dollar, every dime, every cent. If the claim is not allowed, let us enforce matised as "sharper than a serpent's tooth," but when the Appeal lends its columns to the abuse of such statesmen as Davis, and Brown, our rights, in accommon with the laws of justice and equity. Let us remember the causes of war already chronicled against her let us remember the blood of Crittenden, who, in the spirit of a true American, stood erect and with his face to the coward minion that murdered him in sight of the stars and stripes of the American Flag, which now cries from the ground for justice; and let us no longer be thwarted in our demands or robbed of equity on account of the imbicility of a haughty power which protects its arrogant insolence power which protects its arrogant insolence behind his royal rags.

After a most able discussion of the Cuban question; and after taking a position from which we can not conceive how any unprejudice mind can dissent. Mr. Barksdale entered upon the argument of the Territorial and slavery questions which have for some time stood first in the minds of the public. And stood first in the minds of the public. And here we must say that the speaker showed himself most conclusively an able and patriotic Statesman, a true. Democrat, a logal citizen and a true lover of his own native sunny south, and her glorous institutions.

In the discussion of the territorial question

ern man who seeks no advantage, asks no advantage, asks no advantage, but is willing to divide the inheritance on equitable terms. To the North the Southern man concedes all her rights. He in the settlement of the Italian Confederation protection and which the constitution gives protection and which the constitution gives us. Let us have no equivocation, no dodging the question. Honesty is the best policy. If we full then, let us seek by more efficient means to enforce our rights. Let us do to-day, what should have been done forty years ago, what should have been done forty years ago. what should have been done forty years ago, and which each successive delay makes worse. When first the slavery agitation found its way from a foreign shore—from Exeter Hall in England—then we should have staked the Union on the issue and demanded our rights. If we had done it we would have won the victory and had peace and quiet to-day. But every promise of peace on the part of Abolitionists has been broken and violated. We are now driven to the wall. We can retreat no farther unless we compromise the spirit of liberality and independence which inspired our fathers. Let us, then come up boldly to the issue, Let every man in the South, of whatever name he may be called, stand shoulder to shoulder in the context which is impending in 1860. By our homes, our firesides, our in-

Thus in a most able manner was the sub- proposed in the Romagna. ject discussed. We do not like to attempt a report of the speech. We must necessarily be so meagreth at we do the speaker injustice; yet his effort was so powerful, his truths so yet his effort was so powerful, his true yet his effort was so powerful, his true. ungent and important that we could not re-ain from giving a short out line.

And now lellow citizens, bear in mind that in October next you have to elect a Congressman to meet with the assembled counsel of the ration to practicipate in making your laws, and to defend your rights. William Barksdale has shown himself worthy of the trust. Again he pledges himself to return it to you, if again you commit it to his care, pure and unsullied as he received it. He is a man who is willing in the language of his the moral force and power of a full san and endorsement on your part, of his and manly Southern rights principles.

New York, Sept. 20.—General Scott sailed to-day in the Aspinuall steamer for California, on his mission from the Government, in relation to the San Juan Island difficulty. He was exceed to the steamer by several regiments of the New York militia, which made a fine display, and offered appropriate testimonials to the old soldier.

From the Avalanche Sept. 16th. Southern Democrats Assailed Through the Appeal.

For the purpose of sustaining a despicable traitor to the South, the Appeal has prostitutraitor to the South, the Appeal has prostituted its columns to a scandalous abuse of Southern Democrats. Regarding silence as the better discretion, the Appeal says but little editorially, but it permits its colums to be descerated by correspondents, who to propitiate a Northern demacogue, malign and slander Southern patriots. It is now the catspaw which the friends of Douglas use for the purpose of traducing those Southern Democrats whose sense of duty constrains them to oppose the nomination of a man that has done more to injure the South and to destroy the Democratic party than all the men in the Union Democratic party than all the men in the Union put together. Indeed the Appeal is the mill through which is ground all sorts of grist having for its object the advancement of Douglas and the destruction of every South-ern man that has dared to stigmatise his sentative, yet we could not help wishing that shameful desertion of the South and the Dem-

many of the best Democrats of the nation the an enigma that any Southern patriot should raise a dissenting voice to the views of Mr. Barksdale, as expressed on that occasion, and not only the views of our Honorable Representative, but of a large body of Southern people.

In a bold and manly way—speaking as one who stood behind the shield of truth—Mr. Barksdale defended the Admisistration against the charge of extravagance—showed that it was a common thing to wage the warfare—invariably and without foundation—whenever a Democratic Administration was in power.

On the subject of specific duty, and a Pacific Railroad, the speaker occupied the true at. But when this traducer of Southern Democrats comes to Brown, of Mississippi, and

Clay, of Alabama, he almost explodes with indignation Hear him:
"Albert G. Brown, the impetuous Ajax Telamon, who, like Garrison, regards the union of these States as a "covenant with death, and positively stated, are shortly to meet again in an agreement with hell !" whose soul would not sicken within him, were he to believe its fair proportions desolated its Coriuthian col-ums crumbled into dust:

of Mississippi, of the almost entire South and of national men, everywhere. For many weighty reasons, Cuha was indispensibly necessary to this Government. Cuba—which should afford a market for large quantities of our exports—a market for our industrial products—is now blocked up from commerce because of the enormous importation duties imposed by the edict of her tyranical rulers on American products—for instance, that of flour being taxed the enormous sum of $10.81 pr. bbl. Again, while we receive a few millions ern feeling. He affects to hold, by a most possessing the Island, as a rightful heritage to to the U. S. Did not want Cuba otherwise than honorably; got all our territory honorably; got all our territory honorably; paid for Louisiana, California, New Mexico, &c. Thought Cuba could not be obtained by diplomacy; was willing for the experiment to be tried, but Spain would not sell. A Revolution would not succeed because thousands of Spanish minions infested the island as spies and could suppress all patriotic swellings of the oppressed Croole's heart. But we could get Cuba, and get it honorably. Self preservation was the first law of nature. England and France waited not for a pretext when they desired Territory. If Cuba belonged to they desired Territory. If Cuba belonged to these Democratic champions are traduced and these Democratic champions are traduced and the go misrepresented through the columns of a Democratic paper. The triends of Davis, and Brown, and Clay, and Yancey, and Wise, and Iverson have made the Appeal all it is. They have byished upon it patronage that has made it wealthy and aristocratic. They found the guished military commanders to Vancouver's, Appeal poor and pennilness. . They warmed | with instructions in regard to the settlement
